EXPERTS JUSTIFY HIS RUHR POLICY, POINCARE SAYS

French Premier Declares
Reports Show Germany
Can Pay More Than She Has Claimed Possible.

INSISTS ON RIGHT TO ENFORCE PAYMENT

Henry M. Robinson Says
Restoration of Ravaged District of France and Belgium Is Practically Complete.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, April 16.—The French government is beginning to figure out this country may expect to receive under the plan outlined by Charles G. Dawes and his associates.

France professes to find that a settlement on the basis of the plan will give France total payments
at present values of less than 21-$100,000,000 gold marks (about $5-$100,000,000). The opposition to Premier Poincare is taking up these figures and dwelling upon what is called "another amputation of France's claims."

France, under the London schedule of payments would receive $100,000,000 gold marks on the first two series of bonds, with a contingent interest in the balance of $100,000,000 gold marks. Premier Poincare in a campaign speech last night said the experts had estimated Germany's capacity to pay for only a few years to come and had not diminished the amount she would be required to pay eventually.

France and the new radical organization, Quotidian, says that machinery for collection of reparations is provided by the plan only during a period that, under the schedule
of payments fixed by the experts,
would yield about $100,000,000
gold marks. The cost of occupying the Rhineland must be deducted from it, so France's share would amount to considerably less than $100,000,000 gold marks. If Germany paid all the experts demanded,
these papers say.

The opposition says that at the present rate of exchange the present France is likely to receive a value of something like $100-$100,000,000 paper francs, barely sufficient to pay what has already been done in construction, leaving nothing for pensions or French claims. The United States and Great Britain.

Poincare's Speech.
Premier Poincare opened his dinner campaign last night with a speech at the banquet at the Democratic and Social Republican party. He made it clear that his demand to be returned to power is based on the claim that the experts'
reports had proved a striking justification for the occupation of the Rhine and the voices supporting it,
which had been given unanimously
by the Senate and by a great majority in the chamber.

Poincare summarized the points
made by the experts that Germany had impoverished herself fictitious-ly, had lost 6,750,000 gold marks
in the way of capital escape from the country, while keeping more than 1,000,000,000 foreign securities at home, had not taxed herself, as had the allies, and had improved the railroads, telephones, telegraphs, ports and canals, until now she was in a position to take her place in the activities of the world.

Then triumphantly he exclaimed:
"That is exactly what we have been saying. What Germany has been doing and what many even among the allies have been unwilling to believe."

The payments proposed by the experts were, he said, not only less than Germany had been able to pay, but greater than the Bonaire Law limits under consideration before France entered

Evelyn Nesbit and Her Son in Court

The court has ruled that Russell, 13-year-old son of Evelyn Nesbit, divorced wife of Thaw, can intervene against the proceeding by Thaw to establish that he is sane today. His mother asserts that he is a son of Thaw, but Thaw denies this.

The proposal undoubtedly assumed the re-establishment of economic and fiscal unity in the Ruhr, but, he added, France under the plan could not be asked to exchange her guarantees for others wider and more remunerative until Germany has executed her obligations.

"There can be no question, of course," continued the Premier, "of our withdrawal from the Ruhr because that part which is due us is paid; nor can there be any question of loosening our hold without preserving the means to re-establish it in case of need with certainty and rapidity."

The Premier's conclusion regarding political penalties to guarantee execution of the experts'
plan was marked by confidence.
Saying that this point was not within the competence of the experts, he continued: "We shall therefore have to consult with the allies on this matter, and as the organism created by us are in our hands, it will be easier than in 1922 to reach an understanding and safeguard the interests of the allies."

As one of these organisms—
railroad administration—constitutes an important guarantee of security and replaces to some degree the pacts of assistance which were promised in 1919, we will treat this question also, as the reawakening of imperialism in Germany forbids us to neglect it."

German Note Arrives.
The German note in reply to the Reparations Commission's invitation for German representatives to be heard on the expert committee's report was handed to the commission at 6:35 o'clock this evening.
The text of the German reply,
which is extremely brief, was given out tonight. It reads:

"The German Government has
the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the note of the Reparations Commission of April 11 confirming the experts' reports. The German Government considers the reports offer a practical basis for a speedy solution of the reparations problem.
Therefore it declared its willingness to collaborate in the execution of the experts' plans."

St. Louis Girl Held in Chicago.
CHICAGO, April 16.—When Mildred Vance, 16 years old, St. Louis, stepped off an Alton train at the Union Station here two detectives were waiting for her and took her to the juvenile home. Mrs. Lily Haggerty, following a quarrel with her stepfather, she said.

Attorney Gray wanted to know
whether Dr. Wilson had asked Thaw about enticing girls to a room
in New York and cutting one off
with a whip. The witness said he had not because he did not know
whether or not they were true.

"Assuming the girl's charges
were true would that change your
opinion of his mental condition?"
"No, my opinion is that he is sane,"
Dr. Wilson said blood tests to determine whether Thaw had any disease traceable to insanity were made and found negative. Dr. Wilson concluded by declaring that Thaw's moral grade had nothing to do with the question of his sanity.

Yesterday Dr. Charles K. Mills, noted alienist, and six members of the jury which declared Thaw insane in 1917 and many others testified that they believed him sane.
Among them were three policemen, who arrested him following his attempt at suicide here in 1917.
So far those opposing the slay-ing of White in his fight here have had no opportunity to produce witnesses, the case for the petitioner still being far from complete. While listening to witnesses for her former husband yesterday, Evelyn Nesbit said their testimony "won't mean a whole lot
when she takes the stand."

Thaw himself will take the stand before he rests his case, as will Mrs. Mary Cooper Thaw, his 22-year-old mother.

YOUTH IS GIVEN LIFE TERM FOR KILLING WOMAN

George Street, 20, of Madison, Found Guilty of the Murder of Mrs. Judie Evanhoff.

AGE SAVES HIM FROM GALLOWES

Edwardsville Jury Stood 10 to 2 for Death Penalty on 12 of 15 Ballots Taken.

George Street, 20 years old, of Madison, last night was found guilty of the murder of Mrs. Judie Evan-hoff, 34, and sentenced to life imprisonment by a jury in Circuit
Judge Gillman's court at Edwardsville.
On 12 of the 15 ballots taken the jury stood 10 to 2 for the death penalty, and only Street's youth saved him, jurors said afterward.
He was convicted on the first ballot.

Street is the son of William (Big Bill) Street, formerly Captain of the Madison Police Department, who was charged with the slaying of his wife, Catherine, and Patrolman Charles F. Barmore in St.
Louis in 1915. "Big Bill" was acquitted on his contention that an unidentified person fired the fatal shots. Similar defense failed for young Street.

Shot After Drinking Party.
Mrs. Evanhoff, who was one-time housekeeper at the Street home,
was shot about 3 a. m., Feb. 26,
last, after a drinking party at the home of George Diefenbach at Madison. The principal witness against Street was Mrs. Ruth Kancheff, who, with James Ryan, a service car driver, had gone to the Diefenbach home with Street and Mrs. Evanhoff. Ryan has since disappeared.

While there, Mrs. Kancheff said,
Mrs. Evanhoff, whose former husband, William (Big Bill) Street, was murderously slain in Madison last August, declared: "If I know who shot Buck, I'll kill him."

Street then handed her a small revolver with the remark, "You know who did it, now kill him."
Mrs. Evanhoff took the weapon and fired once into the floor. There was nothing further said about the Daley killing, which has never been cleared up.

Mrs. Kancheff said that later
Street quarreled with Mrs. Evanhoff because the latter refused to spend the night with him at the Diefenbach home. The quarrel continued
after the four left, and a short dispute followed in the Diefenbach home, after which the witness said she declared she and Ryan attempted to keep Street from Mrs.
Evanhoff, but he dodged around them and shot her.

Mrs. Kancheff said she and Ryan then ran a Madison policeman testified he found young Street in bed, fully clothed, at the Diefenbach home after the shooting.

Street, who was the only defense witness, declared Mrs. Evanhoff was shot by "someone I didn't know, who ran up and fired. Then that's all."

Whippings Unlikely.
"I want to know," said Dickson,
"if the use of whips doesn't lead to the use of knives later on. I have no evidence of knives, but we are considering the future."

"I am not a soft-sayer and I cannot tell what a man would do," answered the witness, "but taking Thaw's age into consideration, he is not likely to indulge in whippings."

There was a technical discussion
at this point on the desires of men of Thaw's age and those of more advanced years. Questions and answers brought laughs from the spectators in which the women present made their voices heard.

William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit's son, Russell William Thaw, took up the cross-examination at this point, asking what Thaw might do if released.
To all these questions, Dr. Wilson had substantially the one answer—
he did not know.

Attorney Gray wanted to know
whether Dr. Wilson had asked
Thaw about enticing girls to a room
in New York and cutting one off
with a whip. The witness said he had not because he did not know
whether or not they were true.

"Assuming the girl's charges
were true would that change your
opinion of his mental condition?"
"No, my opinion is that he is sane,"
Dr. Wilson said blood tests to determine whether Thaw had any
disease traceable to insanity were
made and found negative. Dr. Wilson concluded by declaring that Thaw's moral grade had nothing to
do with the question of his sanity.

McAdoo Men Will Control Delegation at New York

Reed, the Reed following was not active in the election of the women.
Mrs. Matthews was the only state candidate defeated. Mrs. Christian being elected in her place. The vote received by the winners was:
Mrs. Ewing, 474; Mrs. Flanders, 797; Mrs. Christian, 523; and Mrs.
Kochitzky, 621.

The presidential electors-at-large,
chosen without opposition, were:
R. F. Barnes of Kansas, John Mary Sempie Scott of St. Louis, and Goitra support to Kemper.

This brought the proceedings down to the election of national committees, over which the real fight from the Reed faction's stage point was to be waged. Through three days of political maneuvering
they had directed every effort to the end of defeating Long, and this they accomplished through a series of political deals and the defeat of Kemper. Falling on the first ballot, Kemper, in a hurried conference with the delegates, who were poor third, induced Goitra to release his St. Louis delegates, the expenses of many of whom Goitra had paid, and with these votes Kemper won.

On the first ballot Kemper received 307 1-3 votes, Long 451 1-3,
and Goitra 179 1-3.
Pendergast, after this ballot,
sought payment from Hay for throwing the Jackson County delegation to him for the Reed faction's stage. He asked Hay to release to Kemper delegates friendly to him and who were voting for Long. According to persons on the inside, Hay refused, saying he had given his word to aid Long. Pendergast told him he would not ask him to "go back on his word."

St. Louis, except the Seventh ward, controlled by Lawrence P.
Daley, and the few wards in which the anti-Reed forces had obtained
the seating of contesting delegations by the Reed faction in the ward meetings, the entire St. Louis vote went to Goitra on the first ballot. On the second it went to Kemper. The final ballot gave Kemper 673 and Long 451. Long immediately moved that the unanimous vote be cast for Kemper,
which was done.

Opposition to Mrs. Blair Futile.
Then followed the re-election of Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Joplin
for national committee member. Mrs.
Blair was unpopular with the Reed
following because of her activities
in support of the Wilson administration, but not until almost the last hour of the reporting did they decide to bring out a candidate against her, and when the decision was made they knew Mrs. Blair would win by a big majority. However, through Mrs. Catherine Con-ton, a Reed supporter of Poplar Bluff, they placed in nomination Miss Ahn Carney of St. Louis.

Mrs. Blair, who is vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, received 794 votes and Miss Carney 311.
Before the balloting, there was nearly an hour a fight over the report of the Committee on Rules
and Order of Business, two provisions in the report coming with opposition. Although the National Committee had directed that only eight delegates-at-large be selected from Missouri, there was a movement to increase the number to 12, the idea being that through a delegation of increased size there would be more of a possibility that Miss Blair would get on. He had left off the slate, although he had co-operated with the anti-Reed leaders in all their fights against Reed. The proposal was defeated after much debate.

Byrnes Denounces "Gag Rule."
Col. James W. Byrnes of the St. Louis, who had charge of the fight for a strong anti-klan resolution, and who had met before the Resolutions Committee in the afternoon, objected strenuously to a provision in the report of the Committee on Rules, which stipulated that all resolutions offered from the floor should be referred to the committee without debate. He had planned to get his anti-klan plank before the convention and could see little hope for action if it was referred to the committee which had already rejected it. He charged the report sought to impose "gag rule" and that it "throttled free speech," which, of course, always is the real purpose of such a provision. It is a device of these systems of party organizations
by which they prevent in conventions public discussions of questions which they consider politically embarrassing.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

MOTION FILED FOR NEW TRIAL FOR MRS. SAAL

Use of Scriptural Quotations
by Prosecutor Cited as One of Reasons.

Scriptural passages, about Eve's sinning in the Garden and in condemnation of the abandoned woman, were not applied to Mrs. Angie Saal by a voice from on high,
but by a mere Prosecuting Attorney, and the Judge should have explained this to the jury, her attorney stated today at St. Charles.

The attorney, Rufus Higginbotham, am, filed motion for a new trial
today with Circuit Judge Woolfolk.
He set forth three reasons why the trial and conviction of his client at St. Charles last week on a charge of attempting to murder her husband, Peter, was unfair. She was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

In his address to the jury, the prosecuting Attorney, Bloebaum, liked Mrs. Saal to the biblical sinner
"whose feet go down to death and whose steps take hold on Sheol."
Such tactics were too convincing for a religious St. Charles County jury, Higginbotham avers in his petition. The Judge, he adds, should have warned the jurors that perhaps the Prosecuting Attorney was taking too much on himself to illustrate how God looks upon Angie Saal.

Higginbotham's other objections
were that Ora Thoele, the defendant's lover, under sentence of 30 years in the penitentiary for his part in the assault, was permitted to testify against her, although a convict, and that Judge Woolfolk once ordered the floors of the courtroom locked to keep the crowd in hand.

Mrs. Saal is in jail at St.
Charles pending disposition of her case. Ora Thoele was returned to the penitentiary at Jefferson City yesterday. Peter Saal is back on his farm near Portage des Sioux with his five small children. It was at the Saal farmhouse that Thoele hit Saal over the head with a club and threw him into a barnyard well, from which Saal was rescued by his brother.

W. R. Taylor, Fulton, friendly toward Davis.

Eleventh District (St. Louis).
John Keegan, for Gardner or Smith, and Michael Whalen, for Smith. Twelfth (St. Louis) District—Everett Reeves, Caruthersville, friendly toward McAdoo. Thirteenth District—Lee B. Ewing, Na-vada, and Robert J. Mitchell, Ma-riopolville, with one-half vote each,
friendly toward McAdoo or Davis,
according to the St. Louis vote.
District—A. J. Hawkins, Eminence, friendly toward Davis, and Claud Bass, Steelville, friendly toward Ralston.

Delegates-at-Large. Charles M.
Hay, St. Louis, and F. B. Farris, Rolla, feel that Missouri owes its votes on at least one ballot to McAdoo. Former Gov. Gardner, one of the delegates-at-large, has not determined how he will vote.

An attempt during the convention to revive the Gardner for President boom fell very flat. A resolution endorsing Gardner for further political preference was referred to the Resolutions Committee, was swept aside with little consideration, as was a resolution by Emory Chase of St. Louis to instruct the Missouri delegates for McAdoo.

The Chase resolution doubtless was presented for the sole purpose of having it beaten, as Chase's political affiliations in St. Louis are not with McAdoo's faction there.

No indication was shown by any considerable group of delegates to instruct for any presidential aspirant.

May Dissolve Unit Rule.
Missouri friends of McAdoo claim that on the first ballot at New York that candidate will have 22 of the Missouri delegates. If true, that would give McAdoo the entire 36 votes, as the State convention instructed the Missouri delegation to vote under the unit rule,
which means that the candidates
favored by a majority of Missouri delegates will get all the votes of this State. However, the delegation is empowered by majority vote to dissolve the unit rule at any time.

Backers of John W. Davis, former American Ambassador to Great Britain, make a counter claim that after the first ballot the Missouri delegation, or the bulk of it, will be for their candidate, if at that time
he has shown strength to make him
a contender.

Delegates who would express themselves indicated a preference
as follows: First Congressional District—Ben E. Hulse, Hannibal, someone of the type of John W.
Davis. Second District—William Scanlan, Madison, and Mrs. Bon-nant Hughes, Keosauqua, both for McAdoo. Fourth District—James E. Cox, St. Joseph, for the Davis type, and George R. Ellison, Maryville, for McAdoo. Fifth District—Thomas R. Pendergast, Bensalem City, for Reed, with either Underwood or Smith as second choice.
Joseph B. Shannon, Kansas City,
for a liberal like Underwood or Smith. Sixth District—Adolph Munser, Holden, for McAdoo, Davis
or some other progressive. Seventh District—A. R. James, Marshall, friendly toward Davis. Eighth District—W. R. Hollister, Jefferson
City, for McAdoo, and Mrs. E. W.
Harris, Columbia, friendly toward McAdoo or Davis. Ninth District
—W. G. Gray, Bowling Green, and

ADVERTISEMENTCareless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulford coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. You can get Mulford coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

SECOND INDICTMENT IN AUTO FATALITY CASE

John W. Schmidt Charged With Felonious Wounding for Running Down James Reid.

John W. Schmidt, 52 years old, an electrician, of 2109 Blendon place, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday for the second time in the death of James Reid, 56, of 1925 Graham avenue, who was struck by Schmidt's automobile at Kingshighway and Manchester avenue Oct. 7, last, and died Nov. 4.

The first indictment against Schmidt charged him with manslaughter. This was dismissed by Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnston March 7, with the approval of Circuit Judge Hamilton, because the prosecutor was of the opinion that the charge could not be substantiated before a trial jury. Johnston had talked with Dr. T. L. Carriere, Coroner's autopsy physician, who said he could not testify that a fracture of the skull and other injuries suffered by Reid, in the accident were the cause of death. Dr. Carriere said the cause of death was cerebral hemorrhage.

The original indictment was dismissed with the understanding that the next grand jury would be asked to return another one charging Schmidt with felonious wounding. Such an indictment was returned yesterday.

There was testimony at the inquest that Schmidt had backed up after striking Reid and deliberately tried to run over the injured man's prostrate form. This caused Deputy Coroner Dever to remark that Schmidt's conduct was "the most vicious that had ever come to his attention." There was testimony also that a city hospital physician and a traffic policeman thought Schmidt had been drinking before the accident. A man who accompanied Schmidt at the time testified that he did not think a deliberate effort had been made to back up and run over Reid, and that he had no knowledge that Schmidt had been drinking.

FURNITURE DRIVERS' STRIKE SETTLED

Union Accepts 10-Cent Hourly Wage Increase From Van Association.

The Furniture Drivers' and Helpers' Local Union No. 781 accepted a 10-cent hourly wage increase in an agreement signed last night with the St. Louis Van Owners' Association, and returned to work today. Under the new agreement, which is for one year, helpers receive 65 cents an hour and chauffeurs 70 cents hourly.

The union declared a strike 10 days ago when the Van Owners' Association rejected a 20-cent hourly wage increase demand, and declared open shop. The 38 firms in the association, however, failed to operate during the strike, all moving for the period being done by 43 small concerns paying the demanded increase. Many of these concerns had operated on a nonunion basis prior to the strike, and their reaching an agreement with the union increased the union membership from 350 to more than 500. These concerns were those decided upon in the agreement with the Van Owners' Association, Harry Potthoff, secretary of the union, said.

Julian Gibson, chairman of the Labor Committee of the Van Owners' Association, expressed satisfaction at the settlement. He said the association had been charging the public 75 cents an hour for labor under the former agreement, which allowed helpers 65 cents an hour, and chauffeurs 70 cents. Gibson said the granting of a 10-cent hourly increase to the union might result in a corresponding increase in the cost to the public, but that this has not been definitely established. Under the new agreement the working hours were reduced from 53 to 51 hours per week. This and the 10-cent hourly increase are the only changes over the old agreement.

CHARGES HUSBAND WRITES TO 'COUNTESS VERONA'

Mrs. Marie McKenna Mathews Also Makes Other Complaints in Separate Maintenance Suit. The charge that her husband corresponded with a "Countess Verona" and frequently associated with other women, is made by Mrs. Marie McKenna Mathews in a separate maintenance suit filed yesterday against Harry B. Mathews Jr., vice president and general manager of the Mississippi Lime & Material Co. of Alton.

Mathews resides at the Missouri Athletic Association and Mrs. Mathews, a former resident of Alton, is now living in St. Louis. Mathews could not be reached at the Missouri Athletic Association last night.

The petition does not further identify "Countess Verona." Other allegations are that Mathews deserted his wife Feb. 4, 1918, and since has not supported her; that he drank to excess and that he struck her twice. Mrs. Mathews alleges her husband's salary is $18,000 a year and that in addition he draws large dividends. She asserts he is worth about $1,000,000. They were married Oct. 19, 1910.

Mrs. Mathews is a daughter of the late Edward W. McKenna, at one time vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad. He died in 1920, leaving an estate estimated at $500,000, half of which was put in trust for Mrs. Mathews. The estate is now in litigation over settlements.

Mathews obtained a divorce from his wife at Edwardsville in January, 1922, but the decree later was set aside by an Appellate Court, on Mrs. Mathews' motion.

WALDBART ESTATE TO SUE HEIR TO RECOVER $25,000

The estate of George Waldbart, Grand boulevard florist, who died March 8, 1923, leaving $300,000, is to bring suit against Leslie Campbell, one of the heirs, to recover $25,000 which Waldbart paid him by check a few days before his death.

Probate Judge Holtcamp yesterday granted Administrator Nat Goldstein permission to file the suit. Goldstein is serving pending the suit of Waldbart's niece and nephew in St. Louis to break his will, alleging undue influence of Campbell and his mother, who was Waldbart's housekeeper.

The petitioners wish the $25,000 Campbell drew cupervised until the courts settle the suit. Waldbart left one-third of his estate to Mrs. Campbell, property valued at $20,000 to Leslie Campbell, and the residue to relatives in Germany.

MOTORIST UNDER FOUR CHARGES

Man Caught After Speeding Past Stop Sign.

After smashing into a fence at 4106 McPherson avenue, Clark Ross and his automobile sped west to Newstead avenue and south in Newstead yesterday afternoon. Past boulevard stops and silent cops and frantic signals of policemen. A motorcycle patrolman overhauled the speeder just as he brought up on a curbstone in front of 4318 Forest Park place.

After examining the driver at City Hospital physicians said that they didn't know about the automobile, but they were certain Ross' mixture was far too rich. About 14 per cent alcohol, they judged. Ross resides at 2326 Arkansas avenue. He was held on four charges.

WOOD IS OPPOSED TO FILIPINO INDEPENDENCE

It Would Be Serious Blow to Western Civilization, Says Island Governor.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Immediate independence of the Philippine Islands, sought by special commissions to the United States, would be a "serious blow to western civilization" and a "heartless betrayal of our trust," Governor-General Leonard Wood says in a report made public by Secretary Weeks.

"I sympathize deeply with the desire of the Filipino people for independence," Gen. Wood said, "but know they are not yet prepared to assume its responsibility, either from the standpoint of instructed public opinion, preparedness for defense, a common language or economic resources. I am convinced that the President's letter to Speaker Rogers voices the true interests of the Filipino people and indicates the sound, sane, humane policy which should be followed. The present organic act, with certain amendments, is adequate to carry out this policy until such time as the final relations which are to exist between the United States and the people of the Philippine Islands may be determined."

"Clashes Would Result." "To grant immediate independence would be a heartless betrayal of our trust and result in turning over the 12,000,000 people of those islands to strife and disorder in the near future, for it would result in almost immediate serious clashes between the Moros and Christian Filipinos, the former being a unit against independence and desiring the continuance of American sovereignty. It would defeat true independence, both economic and political, ruin the sugar and tobacco industries, destroy confidence in investments, with resulting wrecking of the finances of the islands and with attendant idleness and disorder."

"I am convinced the true situation in the Philippines is not understood either by Congress or the American people, who have been misinformed and deceived by misleading propaganda and information which has been circulated by the independence mission, and I urge that the fullest opportunity for a hearing be given to those who have lived there long years."

People Are Quiet. "In the two and half years I have been here as Governor-General, I have received but one petition from the people on the subject of independence, and during all this so-called crisis I have not received a single signed or unsigned communication of an unfriendly character. "We must not be swept off our feet by the purely local and artificial agitation produced by a small group fanning the very natural desire of the people for independence. We must not fail to enlighten them as to existing conditions or the costs and responsibilities which independence involves. Most of the serious defects pointed out by the Wood-Forbes report are in process of being corrected, but with great difficulties, and will require years for accomplishment, such as development of natural resources and preparation for economic independence and preparation for national defense and the building up of individual civic courage."

$17,000 VERDICT FOR WOMAN

Mrs. Henrietta Lewis of 2506 North Vandeventer avenue, yesterday obtained a jury verdict of $17,000 in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court for personal injuries suffered when struck by an automobile truck owned by the Independent Packing Co., March 20, 1923, on Olive street near Twelfth street. The verdict is against the packing company and Joseph Buerman, now of Flint, Mich., driver of the truck. According to the testimony Mrs. Lewis, who was employed as cashier in a restaurant on "Olive" near Twelfth, had gone to the south side of Olive to mail a letter and on returning stepped between two parked automobiles and got in front of the truck which was going east on Olive. She alleged negligence on the part of the driver, but he stated that she appeared so suddenly he was unable to stop the machine, which, he said, was not going over eight miles an hour. Since being injured Mrs. Lewis has had to go about on crutches.

AUTENRIETH BROTHERS TO RETIRE AFTER MAY 1

Charlie and Al Sell Hotel at Clayton Associated With County History.

"Autenrieth's," a Clayton hotel for 45 years, with which much St. Louis County history is associated, may retain that name in actuality after May 1, and probably will in popular usage, but "Charlie" and "Al," who have been its presiding genii since the 30's, won't be there after that time.

Charlie and Al, otherwise known as the Autenrieth brothers, have decided to retire and have sold their hotel, about which have lingered many attributes of the old-time tavern, where the proprietor acted as a personal host.

How many political issues have been settled at Autenrieth's! The amateur or expert politicians thought they were settling the issues, at any rate. The generous-sized barroom was the favorite place for these discussions, before and after prohibition. But the Autenrieth brothers observed the prohibition law.

All Things to All Men.

Charlie and Al were all things to all men in their inn. In a county predominantly Republican, Democrats were as welcome there as Republicans. House-cleaning politicians were as welcome as the machine men. Those who didn't care a rap about politics were received as pleasantly as those who did.

For the most part, Al has presided behind the bar, while Charlie has kept things going in the adjacent dining room. Autenrieth's dining room at noon, when something was afoot in the county seat, was like hotel lobbies at a political convention—all factions gathered there in more or less amicable intercourse.

Perhaps the most interesting sort of scene witnessed in that eating place was luncheon when a big trial was on in the old-fashioned courthouse across the street. At a long table the jury and their guardian, Deputy Sheriff would eat, usually in rather moody silence, if the trial was a big criminal case. Scattered about at other tables would be the judges, lawyers for both sides, witnesses, reporters and a sprinkling of county officials. Here and there hard looks would indicate strained relations, but mostly there was laughter and hearty eating of substantial food, with Charlie bustling about in his short white jacket, napkin on arm, or making the cash register jingle.

County banquets were held there often and St. Louisans began the habit of going to Autenrieth's for dinner back in the days of horses, when Clayton was quite a drive from the city. Charlie and Al have always insisted that their guests remain orderly, but have not frowned on hilarity.

Al was Sheriff years ago, and the story survives that when gangsters laid about $20,000 in bills on his desk to obtain some favor, he shoved the money back and said, "Boys, I can't do it." The Autenrieths have always been ready to help their friends in legitimate ways. They are professional bondsmen. Those whom they trusted could leave I. O. U.'s in the till against expected salary checks. The trustworthy also could get a hint of what was going on in the county, though Charlie and Al were not given to talking about other people's business.

Now the Autenrieth brothers are going to take things easy before they grow old. Charlie returned with his bride recently from a honeymoon in Florida. Al has been married for years.

Founded by Father in 1878. The location of Autenrieth's is strategic, at one end of the main business block of Clayton, at For-sythe and Meramec avenues. George Autenrieth, father of Charlie and Al, founded the hotel there in 1878, two years after the separation of city and county. He died in 1899, leaving the place to the boys. A new building, which had replaced the original one in 1893, was destroyed by fire in 1910. The present two-story structure was built the same year.

The purchaser of the hotel, who plans to renovate it and carry on the business, is not ready to disclose his identity. The purchase price is said to be about $75,000. County residents regard Autenrieth's and the Old Twelve-Mile House on Olive Street road as the oldest taverns in the county.

Irish Councils Turn Unionist.

By the Associated Press. BELFAST, April 16.—The Nationalists in Tyrone yesterday fulfilled their threat to boycott nomination for the County Council and the district councils. In consequence, the councils, which have had Nationalist majorities for the last three years, now are solidly Unionist.

Fat Folks Reduce Without Harmful Starving or Even Diet—Eat Your Fill of Bread Everyone Likes Without Gaining—Baked Fresh Daily by Manewal Bread & Baking Co.

WALLACE

GET thin eating? Reduce by eating bread? Yes! Thanks to Wallace, whose new thought on fat and its causes has given the world a new bread. Eat it, and let Nature do the rest. Get a loaf and start reducing today. It's a food—not a fad—and you'll like it. And you can't help reducing as a natural result.

Fat has been a misfortune; it is now a fault, and one that can be easily and speedily corrected.

Losing a Pound a Day Thousands have tried this bread, liked it, and found that it does reduce. Ask any dealer who has it to tell you what his customers tell him. Many have reported 15 lbs. reduction a month, some as much as 30 lbs.—or a pound a day! From now on, you can get Wallace bread almost anywhere in the city. If your store has sold its supply for today they'll save you a loaf for tomorrow.

Your first slice will tell you why so many are buying and eating it. It's real bread—delicious bread—and a joy to fleshy people because a loaf a day wouldn't make you fat! A rich, nut-like flavor, full of nutrition, but the fat-building elements left out. Eat six slices a day—weigh once a week—watch your weight reduce to normal and stay there.

There is no guesswork in the scientific making and baking of Wallace bread, nor any uncertainty to its reducing qualities. Compare your present weight with these figures for the amount you can reduce.

PART TWO.

"COOLIDGE IS HIS PLATFORM," SAYS AT NEW YORK CO

Declares no Party Has More and That President Stands for ment, Economy and Tax

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 15.—"You will search in vain for a more ideal executive than President Coolidge. The American people have already indicated their determination to keep him where he is."

Such was the endorsement of Secretary of State Hughes, opening the Republican State convention at the town hall last night. His speech, which referred to the record of his administration, its purposes and its accomplishments, was stamped with the seal of the White House. Because of this fact, the convention, nominally a routine affair for the purpose of naming seven delegates at large to the national convention, assumed far more than ordinary importance.

Hughes told the 388 delegates and their alternates that the administration did not "condone wrong," nor did it "exonerate" investigations now under way at Washington. He said that isolation was a thing of the past and that America, already doing so, would continue to assist Europe. It was the voice of Calvin Coolidge, speaking through his ranking Cabinet member.

"We would not put any obstacle in the way of discovery and punishment of any official dereliction," said Hughes. "We would bring to the bar of justice every dishonest official and every perverter of administration in or out of office. This is a duty which can be, and will be, competently discharged by the appropriate agencies without any sacrifice of constitutional procedure."

It was this last phrase, "without any sacrifice of constitutional procedure," that seemed to the delegates, in view of conflicting statements by supposed administration spokesmen, to indicate the actual viewpoint of the White House.

Virtue Not a Monopoly.
Secretary Hughes declared that "no political party" has a "monopoly of virtue or of morality."

He said that "there were in every community and in every party," "one sets into office. Let wrongs be exposed and punished, but let not partisan pecksniffs affect a 'holier than thou' attitude. The corruption currency may be found in Democratic as well as in Republican ranks. One who is corrupt is as faithless to his party as to his Government. Guilty is personal and corruption knows no party."

It would be "foolish, false and unpatriotic," said Hughes, to distrust the soundness or the integrity of the Government because of the cases now in the courts, in the process of examination by "council of eminent ability and unimpeachable integrity selected from both the great parties by a Republican President."

Quoted Injunction to Moses.
"That would be to assail the honor of the hosts of officials devoting their lives with unselfish fidelity to the country's interests," he said. Hughes then quoted the declaration of President Coolidge in which the chief executive declared that the "clear, open path of justice" would be followed with "immediate, adequate, unshrinking prosecution to punish the guilty and to protect every national interest."

The Secretary of State warned that while the American people "fostered crookedness and corruption, they are not fond of scandal mongers."

"Throughout this favored country," he continued, "in countless jury rooms our people are dealing directly with the creditable, worthy persons, with the exhibition of the graces and personal amabilities of fair bearers and they know the difference between evidence and hearsay, between proof and malice, between reports, between accusations and sustained charges. They do not wish the guilty to escape but they know that there is no security for life or liberty or character if the standards of justice are ignored and guilt is assumed before it is established. The injunction of Jehovah is still pertinent: 'Thou shalt do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honor the person of the mighty; but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbor. Thou shalt not go up and down as a tale-bearer among thy people.'"

Reviews Party Record.
Hughes then turned to a survey of the accomplishments of the Republican party during the four years which have passed since 1920. He declared that the Republican party had promised to reduce government expenditure and thereby make possible relief from oppressive taxation. It has kept its promise, he said.

"We point not to professions, but to actual, extraordinary achievement," said Hughes. "Every business man, every farmer, every Conditions at City Sanitarium.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AFTER reading Mr. Mel Washburn's articles in the St. Louis Times, I feel that I must write of my experience with the doctors and attendants at the city sanitarium.

Of course, my experience has only been with the attendants in the women's halls, as I have a relative in one of the halls. I have visited several of the women's halls, during a period of over a year and on days other than visiting days, and can say nothing but the best of the treatment. Mr. Washburn spoke of the patients he saw as being unkempt and filthy. I have yet to see a woman patient unclean. When the women are ill they are treated with the utmost kindness. I have had occasion to visit the hospital and sick ward, where everything is immaculate and all patients receive good care. I have never seen a woman patient, in any hall I have visited, "strapped to the bed" nor have I ever heard one harshly spoken to by an attendant or doctor. In fact, all the attendants and doctors I have seen were very kind and patient. I am sure all the patients get enough to eat, but I am told, by doctors outside the sanitarium, that people in this state of mind have nothing to think of and therefore would eat constantly if allowed to do so. This probably accounts for the patient Mr. Washburn spoke of asking for a piece of bread.

As I have told you, I know nothing of the men's halls, but I think this should be published in fairness to the women attendants as the public might get the wrong impression from Mr. Washburn's articles, for he said in the newspaper, "There are men and women—dozens of them—strapped to their beds, their wrists bleeding and raw from the leather cuffs, etc."

Our family has the highest regard for the doctors in charge at the sanitarium. We have found them always willing to do everything in their power for the patients.

Pennsylvania's Alien Dog Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HAVE just read of the wanton slaughter of dogs belonging to an alien in Pennsylvania.

I wonder if the State of Pennsylvania feels much safer or more righteous now that they have taken the lives of nine dogs whose only mistake was in having chosen the wrong master, for their owner having chosen the wrong country in which to make his home?

Why does such a law exist? Is it a left-over of war-hysteria? Whatever its origin it should be a source of mortification to any broad-minded citizen. Unless the dog is dangerous to others, what possible reason could there be for prohibiting anyone the pleasure of owning a dog?

Is there any European country where an American could not own a dog? If there was we would hear an awful row about American liberties.

MRS. M. E. CROSS.

Birth Control Condemned.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I reply to your editorial of today in reply to St. Louis University reader condemning birth control as a great evil. I allow me to give you facts why it should not be enacted into law.

1. The same law holds good in the New Testament as it did in the old.

2. It is not necessary to make a law, as a lot of it (to the shame of the nation) is practiced today.

3. To prevent conception is a crime against nature and when nature is thwarted dire results are the consequence.

God's laws are immutable and were to the legislators that enact such diabolical laws and to please satan's emissaries. God bless those married couples who welcome a big family and busy they live long and prosper; and cursed be those that follow the devil's suggestion. I trust as a fair-minded editor of a fair-minded paper, you will publish this letter in the People's Column in full.

J. BREITZER.

"Wrestling the Scriptures."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

J. D. P. in today's issue entitled "Dealing With Law Breakers" cites the scriptures as condemning capital punishment.

The scriptures definitely instituted the infliction of the death penalty. The writer has often raged against "wrestling the scriptures" by anybody, even as do the preachers, when it will support a personal argument as we have seen most frequently of late in the matter of drinking alcoholic liquors.

Your editorial of the same issue "Is Birth Control Immoral?" is also a case in point and the writer fully agrees with your method of "handling the citation."

"Be fruitful and multiply."

Genesis 1:28 will be found to say: "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the land."

DEMOCRATIC COWARDICE.

The State Democratic convention ran true to the form prescribed for it by the McAdoo, dry, klan forces in control.

It proved its cowardice by rejecting a platform plank denouncing the Ku Klux Klan, in accord with the principles for which the Democratic party stands, if it stands for anything, and adopting the substitute affirming civil and religious liberty, the liberty of the press, in language which klansmen themselves use with the tongue in the cheek.

Praising the late Woodrow Wilson for his domestic and international policies, it carefully avoided mentioning the League of Nations, but contented itself with criticizing in general language the failure of the Republican party to co-operate in the economic rehabilitation and the reduction of armaments in Europe.

There is nothing in its reference to international policies, barring the criticism of the Republican party, that would not be endorsed by the irreconcilables who fought Wilson to the death. The convention did not instruct its delegation to the national convention in favor of any presidential candidate, but it named a majority of McAdoo delegates. All the men on the slate of the delegates-at-large are ardent supporters of McAdoo, and the composition of the delegation majority justifies Mr. Long's telegram to Mr. McAdoo assuring him of the support of Missouri's 36 delegates at the Democratic national convention.

The plea for uninstructed delegates seems to have been merely a trick to catch the unwary voters and to put over a delegation in favor of a candidate whose unavailability is so clear and so universally recognized that the wayfarer man, though a fool, cannot err therein.

These are the vital points in the work of the convention. They are the points which offered opportunity for the convention to exercise judgment and to prove its courage and its devotion to fundamental Democratic principles. It preferred to prove its cowardice and its trickery, and to substitute for courageous declarations long-winded criticism of the Republican party and vague generalities that have no force or real meaning.

The first demonstration of the character of leadership of the Missouri Democracy does not preface a winning battle nor results that are worth while if the battle should be won by default.

WOULD HOLD MUSCLE SHOALS.

Former Secretary of War Baker has joined in the opposition to the grant of Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford on the terms of the bill passed by the House and now before the Senate Agricultural Committee. Mr. Baker's discussion of the proposal is a distinct contribution to the subject. Though he rehearses the points already covered in Representative Theodore Burton's searching analysis of the concession, particularly with reference to its violation of the conservation policy embodied in the water-power act, his remarks on the subject of nitrate production are peculiarly pertinent.

The sentiment in favor of the Ford bill is largely inspired by the farmers' need of cheap fertilizer and their belief that Henry Ford could be trusted to meet that need, notwithstanding Mr. Ford never has obligated himself unreservedly to produce cheap fertilizer in sufficient quantities to supply the farmers' requirements. But according to Mr. Baker fixed nitrogen will shortly be produced by chemical processes, independent quite of hydro-electric or other cheap power. Accordingly, the item of fertilizer may safely be dismissed from consideration of the Ford bill.

The wise policy, in Mr. Baker's judgment, is for the Government to preserve and operate the dam itself and so "to dominate the electric power situation as to compel equality of treatment to all the vast manufacturing interests of the Southeastern section."

At any rate, to place such a property in the hands of any individual or company for a period of 50 years, much less the 100-year lease which Ford insists upon, Mr. Baker declares, would vest such an individual or company with industrial mastery of a great part of the country. For Congress to take such a wide and perilous leap with its eyes shut is indefensible. The Ford bill, if it must be accepted, should be revised to conform to our conservation policy and to the whole country's industrial welfare.

THE HYSTERICAL SENATE.

In order to rebuke the Japanese Ambassador for a few phrases the Senate has, in the words of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, decided upon "the waste of 20 years of excellent diplomacy," upon "the waste of the fortunate and happy results that followed the ratification of the four-Power treaty in the Pacific," upon "throwing away the good relations, or a large part of them, that followed the prompt and friendly action of America after the Japanese earthquake."

All this the Senate has decided to do, not in order to prevent Japanese immigration, for that is already accomplished, but in order, as Senator Lodge said, to assert "the greatest of fundamental sovereign rights." Yet the Japanese Ambassador had not challenged the sovereign right; he had, in fact, expressly acknowledged the right of the United States to control immigration. He had merely, in quite friendly fashion, argued that the long-standing and successful gentlemen's agreement should be continued and even extended; that Congress should not, for the sake of excluding 240 Japanese in a year, put the brand of racial inferiority upon his proud people. He pointed out that the Japanese would resent this wholly unnecessary affront and that "grave consequences" would be brought upon "the otherwise happy and mutually advantageous relations" between the two countries.

The words "grave consequences" were taken by Senator Lodge as a "veiled threat" and by Senator Moses as a threat of war. Yet in no sense were they such a threat. They were a candid statement of fact, as Senator Reed admitted when he described what the Senate was doing as "the waste of 20 years of excellent diplomacy." If that is not a grave consequence, what is? That is what the Japanese Ambassador was talking about.

Thus the Senate, following the lead of the House, proposes to pass a law which is wholly unnecessary, to assert a right which was not made. It would not be possible to imagine a more irresponsible performance. The Senate, which last week was, in the matter of immigration, soberly aware of our foreign relations, became on Monday a reckless mob. Senators who usually keep their heads vied with Senators who have none to keep in making themselves as offensive as possible to the Japanese people. In one afternoon's hysterical debate the Senate demonstrated how necessary it is to resist its pretensions to order the foreign policy of the United States. For the grave issues of world peace cannot be confided to a body which may at any moment, and to no end and on mere suspicion, lose all sense of the consequences.

Nowhere as in a contest over delegates at a political convention is the old adage so applicable: "Them as has gets."

FOILING THE BURGLAR.

A New York criminal lawyer made a $4000 speech the other night. Entering his apartment just as two burglars who had collected jewelry to the value quoted he appealed so convincingly to their professional ethics that they humbly relinquished the loot and sobbingly slunk out into the dark.

This effort, however, may be something more than a bit of classic persuasion. The orator may well have opened up a new and quasi-honorable avenue for the criminal lawyer. He may have solved a baffling police problem and banished an ugly specter from the firesides of the land.

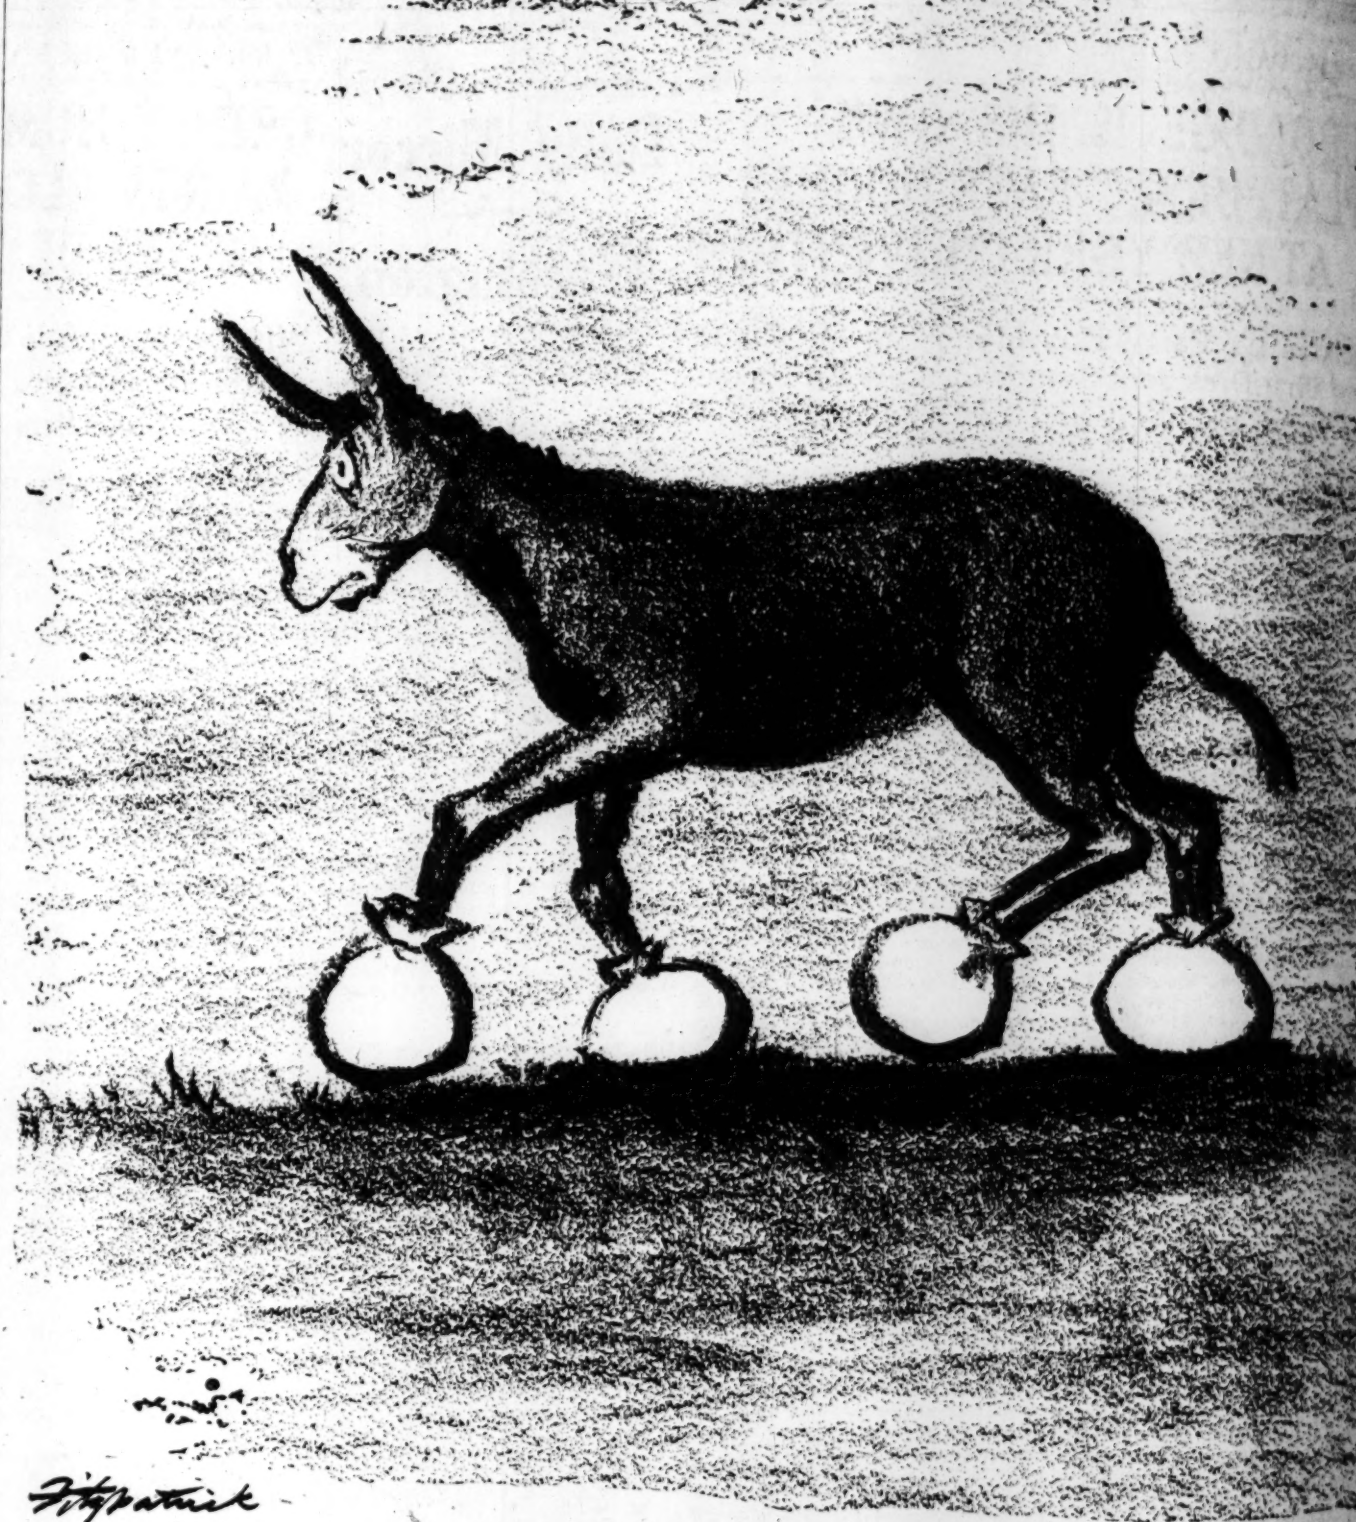

Why shudder behind bolts and bars and other impotent contrivances when all one needs is a gifted criminal lawyer who will receive the unbidden guests, discuss with them the propriety and wisdom of the adventure in the argot of the guild; in short, put the proposition up to them as one craftsman to another, thus saving the Lanes and Penates from so much as a thumb mark? A simple, thoroughly efficient defense. And if the occasion be anointed with a drop or two of contraband this touch of hospitality would give the ceremonial a rather appealing glow.

Of course, it may be objected that as between the two evils the uninvited burglar is preferable to the retained presence of the criminal lawyer. And who are we to overrule that objection?

Senatorial life is just one indignation after another.

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"I look as if we were about to have an oldsters' bloc," Mr. Antwerp said. "I see that Dr. Charles W. Eliot is telling what sort of man the Democrats should nominate for President, and I can't for the life of me think of anyone meeting the requirements except Mr. Bryan."

"Listen to this: 'I think he should be a Democrat from the Northern, Western or Northwestern states, and a strong speaker.' We have very few Democrats of prominence in the region named, and those few count among themselves only one strong speaker. That is Mr. Bryan."

Let us look them over again. There is Senator Wheeler of Montana, the Nemesis of Daugherty. I have seen mention of him as a candidate for the vice presidency upon a third ticket, but I have not heard any suggestion that the Democrats might find a presidential candidate in the La Follette group. Probably they might do worse, but they will hardly cast their own votes overboard and go to that length. There is also Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, an excellent man but far from being a strong talker. With all his virtues, I am afraid that Senator Kendrick, who spent in the saddle most of the years Dr. Eliot spent upon the platform, would hardly meet oratorical expectations of the former president of Harvard. There are former Gov. Gardner of Missouri and Gov. Davis of Kansas. I know little about them, but they would likely be stronger speakers than candidates.

"It is from these difficulties that we turn to Mr. Bryan of Nebraska. He really lives in Florida, but his name is inseparable from Nebraska. The boy orator of the Platte is too securely fixed in memory ever to become the old man of the sea."

Mr. Bryan easily meets the platform requirements of Dr. Eliot. As a matter of fact, those two were for a quarter of a century platform rivals. Nobody knows better than Dr. Eliot than Mr. Bryan is a very strong speaker. He is, indeed, our oratorical Samson.

"So there we are—the compliment of one older to another. Their motto likely is, 'Anybody to beat the youngsters!'" Mr. Antwerp said.

There was some confirmation at Sheldon Memorial last night of what Hilaire Belloc recently said about the English and American languages. He thinks it cannot be long until the difference between them will be as great as that between English and French. Bertrand Russell, than whom perhaps no one uses English more beautifully, was speaking.

"Did you agree with him?" someone asked me coming out.

"I agreed with what I understood of it," I answered.

After the lecture it was stated that Mr. Russell would answer questions. I would have liked to ask what it was he said, and no doubt many of us wondered, but in the recent entente cordiale between this country and England both countries expect ev-

THE GIFT OF LAUGHTER.

Sir: When we sit down to meditate upon Nothing, we find there is more in it than appears upon the surface. It is indeed a most stupendous subject. For out of it the world was made, the efforts of man to get somewhere result in it, and with it alone are women satisfied. It is what the little boy shot at; it is what the Kaiser begged for; it is what the great expenditure of ammunition, and it is what the late lamented Mr. Stinnes acquired with his superhuman genius for making money.

It is better to be "born with a gift of laughter and a sense that the world is mad," than to be of those who take this life so seriously as to make material success of any kind the end and aim of their existence. We read of the great Stinnes, who boasted he could buy any man in Central Europe and not miss the money; who defied nations and extended his tentacles, like an enormous devil fish, into all parts of the world. The nations stood in awe of his potential power for either good or ill, as he saw fit to direct it. What a wonderful man! What a genius, for big undertakings!

Meanwhile a little Stinnes, an infinitesimal micro-organism afloat on an invisible atom of atmospheric dust, found a comfortable lodgment and congenial environment in the vital organs of the imperial wizard of finance. It started doing business along the same lines as Stinnes. Like its great prototype, it did not believe in the eight-hour day. Stinnes worked 16 hours a day, but the little Stinnes worked his ideal of a working man by toiling ceaselessly the full 24. It never slept. It developed, it multiplied itself by division of its parts, after the manner of microbes; it attacked the red corpuscles of the blood, disintegrated the cellular organism of the body and established a microbial communion that eventually absorbed and controlled the whole system.

Single-handed and alone this great Napoleon of finance aspired to perform what an Emperor with millions of grined men had failed to accomplish. The sum and substance of his phenomenal career is the little, ironical end of nothing. Like a broken reed he fell before the mighty onslaught of a measly microbe. Good-night, dear boss, good-night! It is to laugh!

SCARAMOUCHE.

Sir: What if Just a Minute has nominated the next President? Last October I had an article in the Post-Dispatch in re Alfred G. Smith of New York. He is the only man the Democrats can elect and will I am sure carry Illinois. This nomination was made last year and still holds good. No election was ever like this one and the Democrats have everything their own way now.

I hope to bring myself in for Easter as usual and I will run in to see you, since I made the first correct guess. And I have been busy now since I see the news from New York.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF THE SCHOOLS.

From the Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Democrat.

ADMITTING the failure of the school systems to secure exact and standardized "education" for every inhabitant of the United States, it is very important that the children of the nation be not handed over to Federal authorities. Realizing the educational system is not what the people desire, it is not the way to secure the highest ideals and to banish illiteracy. Strong efforts are being made by interested educators and politicians, who see the opportunity that a new bureau and hundreds of millions in appropriations can make, to advance the Towner-Sterling education bill now in Congress. The bill seems harmless enough, when explained by its advocates, but it is surely the entering wedge that is expected to make for complete Federal control by those who have framed it.

We can see that turning over the educational interests of the states to the control of an educational department and bureau in Washington would be not only another great advance in centralization, but an actual injury to the cause of education. The creation of a department of education, with large appropriations to distribute among the states and with another Federal bureau to supervise the distribution and the standards of education fixed by the Federal Government, would practically place the control of education in the hands of the Federal Government, or rather in the hands of the Federal educational bureau, and would lower the sense of responsibility on the part of the people of the separate states for the maintenance of their public school systems.

It is another step in the march towards Federal empire. It would create another great Federal bureau, it would put an additional burden of taxation upon all the people of the states for the benefit of a few states. Placing the control of education in the hands of a Washington bureau would make for inefficiency rather than efficiency. Education would be standardized according to the views and interests of the Federal bureaucrats, not in accordance with the views and interests of the people of the states and school districts.

That old lure of "Federal money" to all in places where there is little money now expended on education is being used to lure and deceive. Federal aid is being used to lure money to foster some enterprise that may or may not redound to the general interest. Federal control of educational affairs would mean the abandonment of all State and local responsibility for the individuality of the people.

States must maintain their individuality and self-respect and dignity no more can be expected of the people, and the country solves to a territory or despotism, and carried on for the benefit of the office holders.

States must maintain their individuality and self-respect and dignity no more can be expected of the people, and the country solves to a territory or despotism, and carried on for the benefit of the office holders.

HOLDS MONOPOLIES ARE CAUSE OF WARS

Bertrand Russell, Pacifist, Also Says "Collective Hysteria" Is Another Reason.

Bertrand Russell, English pacifist, speaking before an audience which filled Sheldon Memorial last night, undertook to tell "Why Men Fight," and said at the outset that the question was not a simple one. He proved this by subdividing and redividing his theme in bewildering fashion, until, at the close of his one-hour address, the audience showed itself unwilling to risk any more seconds and hardly by asking questions. Only one question came, after several invitations, and it was so vaguely worded that no reply was attempted.

Concrete conclusions of the speaker were that public ownership of raw materials, natural monopolies and agencies of transportation is a necessary step toward peace, and that large corporations, industries and armies and navies of their nations, at the people's expense, to defend their interests abroad, are breeders of war.

Russell spoke in a colloquial fashion, with frequently amusing remarks, and in a way that was not in beginning, he put aside the Socialist theory, that war is due to capitalism, as inadequate, and as not being in accord with the fact that some of the most warlike nations are those that have advanced in capitalist and industrial development. He dismissed the idea that war is due to ineradicable instincts of mankind, and said that instincts were dependent on situations and that situations could and should be kept from arising. He also denied that war is due to pressure of population, since France, with no overpopulation problem, is more warlike than China, which has a serious problem of overpopulation. Each of these causes, he said, may contribute to war in certain instances, but none of them will serve as a general explanation of it.

Names Several Causes.

Causes for war may be found under heads of politics, economics and social psychology, Russell said, and taking the last subdivision first, he discussed the effect of leadership, in that leaders find their power increased in war. The Kaiser and the Czar, for instance, both wanted war, because each thought that the other would have supposed they would both lose.

Ministers of religion, the speaker said, are surprisingly bellicose, more so than the average man. The Chinese, he remarked, are unable to see how, in view of the non-resistance teachings of the Sermon on the Mount, Christian nations go to war.

But it is not only leaders who desire war, he continued. The ordinary man wants it, or leaders could not drag him into it. "We must get men to dislike war in prospect," he said. "It is not enough to dislike it when it actually comes."

National fear was named as a potent cause of war, and international organization, along the lines of the original plan of the League of Nations, was mentioned as a means of removing this fear. Collective hysteria was described as a cause of war, and the speaker cited warlike articles and editorial matter as "blasts of unreason," difficult to understand in re-reading them at this time. He told of the belief in England in wartime, that the Germans had cut off the hands of many Belgian children. (Melville B. Stone, head of the Associated Press, conducted an investigation of these hand-chopping reports, and declared their falsity in public speeches in St. Louis and other cities early in 1918, in the midst of American participation in the war, and his denial was printed prominently in the newspapers.)

Impressed for Literatures.

"Watch yourself when you find that you are getting excited," said Russell, who said that while he himself was not very patriotic, the public feeling in his country had some effect on him for a time. His allusion to his wartime record, which included imprisonment for his pacifist views, appeared to amuse the audience.

Education could train people to insist on the truth, he said, but instead, it seems to make falsehood more readily accepted, through "collective hysteria," which passes as patriotism, when taught to children.

Reviding his subject, Russell said there were rational causes for war, and that some persons sought war for their own advantage, and sometimes obtained such advantage. To deal with war, he said, war-mongers must be stopped, or the public must be immunized against them as against disease bacilli.

Another subdivision, and he discussed wars of principle, wars of prestige (he included the Spanish-American War among these), the formula for the last-named was outlined thus: "The politician tells the voter he will make him rich and prosperous. The voter gives his vote, but then he gets rich, and the politician is keeping him out of his rights. England, before the war, thought its unemployment was due to Germany. England has unemployment now, though Germany is not causing it."

Says Oil Bill Issue.

Russell told then of nationalized oil.

"Coolidge is His Own Platform," Says Hughes

In more explicit terms than that in which it has ever been expressed. The unfinished business of the Washington conference, he said, would be taken up as soon as "there appears to be a reasonable prospect of success."

Mexican Relations Improved.

In Mexico and in relations between Latin American countries, said Hughes, conditions had greatly improved through better understanding.

"The troublesome difficulties which for many years have disturbed our relations with Mexico, have yielded to a friendly adjustment," he said. "The truth is," he added, referring to international relations, "that co-operation now where the subject matter is such that we would be able to co-operate at all. Indeed, we co-operate with facility and elasticity which might be impaired or lost in the event of association in a formal organization, if this led to restrictions imposed through a fear of the possible abuses of opportunity which such an association would afford."

"The so-called 'unofficial observations' at various conferences abroad actually represent the Government of the United States."

"The United States had taken part in the solution of problems attending on public health, anti-thrax, traffic in women and children, relief work and the traffic in arms. In many of these the work has been done with the committees of the League of Nations.

"We have always advocated the judicial settlement of international disputes," he continued, "and to this end both President Harding and President Coolidge recommended, upon appropriate conditions, the support of the permanent court of international justice. In the meantime we are promoting the use of the processes of arbitration."

"Whoever says that America stands aloof and withholds her support from a stricken world is guilty of reckless slander," he charged. "We do stand aloof from political entanglements, but not otherwise. American aid, American advice, American impartiality in dealing with difficult problems, are sought and given."

The Secretary referred to the Dawes report as an example of the manner in which the United States co-operated in aiding in solution of the problems of Europe.

There has just been dramatic illustration of this. American brains, American experience, American competency of the highest order have been given to the solution of the most urgent European problem. A practicable adjustment of the questions pertaining to reparations is the essential foundation of the economic recovery for which the world is waiting. Central Europe has been in an economic chaos and has suffered the resulting evils of mistrust, of industrial distress.

"Nor has the injury due to the inability to find a settlement been limited to Europe. Our farmers have suffered through the decreased consuming power and the lack of markets. With a sound basis for economic recuperation abroad there will be new hope and the promise of the dawn of a new era of general prosperity and peace."

Had this Government attempted to make this contribution we should still be in controversy, and he held, as Europe has been held, in the grip of politics and racial antagonisms.

"The world needed the untethered service of men of affairs to deal with the vital problems of industry and finance upon their merits. It is none the less an American contribution because it has been made by such men in the only practicable way."

"We pause to pay our tribute of esteem to the beloved leader who has been taken from us, the man of warm heart, of generous purpose, of patriotic devotion," Hughes continued. "I have spoken of the achievements of his administration. No one can adequately voice the deep affection in which we hold the memory of President Harding. In his loyal service he gave life itself."

High Praise for Coolidge. And then as to the future. A more able executive than President Coolidge cannot be found, said Hughes. His background, temperament, ability, equipment, and experience, his conception of public duty, fidelity to obligation and personal integrity are behind the desire of the American people to keep him in office.

"President Coolidge is his own platform," he declared. "His first message was a comprehensive survey of conditions, requirements and purposes, which has charted the course of the Republican party and commanded the approval of the country. No other platform is needed. The program of President Coolidge is that of national economy or retrenchment in expenditures, and reduction of taxation. It is that of the unswerving enforcement of the law, with no immunities, no partiality, no sacrifice of public interest either to favor or to clamor.

"No one can foresee the exigency which an administration may have to confront. It is the unexpected that happens to Presidents as to others. For this reason, character is more important than declarations. Today there is no occasion for experiment, no reason for uncertainty. The best assurance of the future is the character of Calvin Coolidge."

one to eight. J. H. Fried & Co. announced they had $1000 to place at this figure and $4000 to place at odds of one to four that Smith would win the nomination. The money came from all over the country.

Wall Street is offering odds of five to one that President Coolidge will be re-nominated by the Republicans and of seven to five that he will be re-elected. There are some, however, who are willing to bet odds of one to eight that Coolidge will not be nominated, and Fried & Co. say they had $5000 to place against $20,000 that the next President will be a Democrat.

now serving a term in Atlanta Penitentiary, as "the bootleg king of Ohio," and said Remus was reputed to have made $5,000,000 in the illicit whiskey trade before he was convicted and imprisoned. It was Remus' secretary, he said, who told him that an effort was being made to get Commissioner Haynes a foreign diplomatic appointment. Kerns declared that Special Assistant Attorney-General Stewart Bolin had accepted retainers from several men charged with liquor violations, including one who was a fugitive from justice. Bolin went to Canada to visit his client, he said.

"One of the men indicted with me," he went on, "was Earl Talhelm. I was president of the Victor Drug Co. and Talhelm was secretary and treasurer. After we were sentenced a man told us that we had employed the wrong lawyer. He said if we could get Bolin we would not have to go to prison. I said I would have nothing to do with Bolin but Talhelm retained him. My motion for a new trial was denied and I went to Atlanta. The Judge took Talhelm's motion under advisement and still has it under advisement, although that was two years ago."

"Was the evidence the same in both cases?" asked Senator Jones. "Certainly. We were tried jointly." "What other attorney did you employ?" asked Wheeler. "I had my regular lawyers, and then I hired John Todd, who was Attorney-General Daugherty's law partner until Daugherty entered the Cabinet. I paid him $2000 in about four weeks."

"And you employed him for the influence you believed he had with the Department of Justice?" added Wheeler. "Most certainly," was the flat response.

"I know it. My parole has not been revoked and I am not charged with anything warranting its revocation. The Warden simply called me up over long-distance telephone at New York and said I would have to come back and serve some more time. Assistant Attorney-General Seymour told the District Attorney who interceded for me that I should not be sent back, but that the department was afraid of the criticism aroused by this investigation."

"When were you ordered back?" "About three weeks ago. It was just after I told some friends that I intended to appear before this committee as a witness. I was getting ready to return when I received this subpoena. As soon as the committee releases me I will start for Atlanta."

Money and Paroles. "Has any official talked to you about appearance here?" asked Wheeler. "Yes, H. H. Votaw, superintendent of prisons, called me to his office yesterday and asked me if I was under subpoena to come here. He said he had some doubts about whether the subpoena was good and he had a photostat copy of it made."

Votaw is a brother-in-law of the late President Harding and his name had previously appeared in the testimony.

The St. Louis Trading Co. mentioned in yesterday's hearing at Washington, is not listed in the city or telephone directories.

Former Ohio Congressman Denies Any Part in Liquor Withdrawals. By the Associated Press.

FINDLAY, O., April 14.—(AP)—Ralph D. Cole, former Ohio Congressman, and a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1932, today denied testimony given yesterday before the Daugherty Senate Investigating Committee that he was implicated in any unlawful withdrawal of liquor from Government warehouses. "The story is absolutely false," declared Cole. "I never directly or indirectly applied for or obtained a liquor permit for anyone."

SALE OF SUPPLIES FOR HOME BREW TO BE PROHIBITED

New Regulations of Dry Enforcement Unit Make Dealer Responsible, but Intent Must Be Proved.

BROADER LICENSE FOR DRUGGISTS

Advertising of Sacramental Wine in Religious Papers or Otherwise Forbidden—Rules Effective May 1.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20-23 Wyatt Building, WASHINGTON, April 16.—Changes will be made in the enforcement of the national prohibition law after May 1. This was revealed today by a study of the revised regulations of the Federal prohibition unit, which constitutes the unit's interpretation of laws and court rulings.

Some brewers will be particularly affected if the unit strenuously enforces the revised regulation. Four years' experience with the prohibition enforcement has brought forth changes like the following:

"The advertisement, sale, etc., of stills, parts of stills, worms or coils, malt, malt extract or syrups, hops, isinglass, fruit juices such as grape mash, dried fruits and fermentable materials as well as recipes and formulas for the manufacture of liquor for use in home or elsewhere, are prohibited. The legal bureau of the unit explained today that under this regulation a grocer who sells raisins, knowing that they are to be used in the manufacture of home brew, can be held liable. The same is true of a dealer selling isinglass, which is used as a clarifying agent.

The official admitted, however, that conviction would be difficult, as the issue would involve proof of intent. He explained that successful prosecution for the sale of fermentable beverages, which becomes intoxicating after the sale had been made, had been difficult for the same reason.

Limit on Sale of Extract.

The revised regulations further state that the sale of malt extract with hops and clarifier to any person other than a holder of a permit is not permissible, notwithstanding the fact that the vendor may furnish the purchaser of such materials with recipes containing a warning or caution not to do certain things, as thereby the product will develop a high alcoholic content.

This type of violation, the attorney explained, had usually been prosecuted under a conspiracy clause, since many recipes were sold telling what not to do, yet the purchasers went ahead and made alcoholic beverages.

Sacramental Wine Advertising.

But if the home brewer has been hit, others have benefited by the revision. The revised regulations state that after May 1 authorized manufacturers of alcohol and other liquors, wholesale druggists and importers of wine may orally solicit orders and furnish price lists to persons qualified under the act, but that the advertising of wines for sacramental purposes or similar religious rites, by printed announcements in religious papers or otherwise, is not permitted.

The amount of potable spirits a wholesale druggist may keep in stock has been changed. Not including high proof alcohol, after May 1 he will be permitted to procure and sell to an amount equal to 10 per cent, (measured in dollars and cents, computed at $8 per wine gallon to such liquors), of his bona fide drug business sales, exclusive of the sale of alcohol and potable spirits during the last year.

This limitation, however, does not apply to purchases made from the United States Government. If the liquor is allowed to remain in a concentration warehouse.

If the retail druggist does not have liquor in stock, he can endorse the prescription and send its possessor to a druggist who has some.

The new regulations state, however, that the second druggist must immediately notify the issuing physician that he has made delivery.

Another change is that liquor obtained upon prescription of a physician and bearing a label required by the regulations may be lawfully possessed by the person for whom prescribed, or by another member of the patient's household (including a nurse or servant) for administering to the patient.

Discretionary Power.

The physician is given discretionary power in some instances. The regulations now say:

"In the case of a grave emergency, where great suffering or loss of life might result from the delay incident to writing upon the proper form of prescription blank or emergency prescription the full details of the emergency, a physician may write in lieu thereof the words 'grave emergency' and forward to the director, with a duplicate copy of such emergency prescription, a statement of the details of the emergency."

This proviso is made however: "Liquor administered by physicians under this regulation must not be furnished to the patients under conditions constituting a sale."

Prohibition officials explained that most of the revised regulations had been written after a study of court decisions, but that juries the past, as to the intent of the would decide in the future, as in law.

LODGE DEFENDS COOLIDGE'S SHARP NOTE TO SENATE

"Strong, but Necessary"
—Declares Aim in Hiring Honey Was to Break
Mellon.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 16.—Replying to critics of President Coolidge for his letter of protest against the trend of Senate investigations, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, Republican floor leader, declared today in the Senate that the Chief Executive had acted entirely within his rights.

"This message," said Lodge, "declares directly to the conduct of public business, with which the President is charged as Chief Executive."

Calling attention to that section of the message stating that the Internal Revenue Bureau investigating Committee was seeking information which could not be helpful in framing legislation, Lodge pointed out that there were laws making individual tax returns, including those of Secretary Mellon, inviolate.

Cites Wilson Precedent.
"There can be no question in anybody's mind," the majority leader said, "that the purpose could not be otherwise than to seek something in relation to the character of the Secretary of the Treasury himself."

Lodge said he regretted to take up the time of the Senate because of the important legislation pending, but could not allow to pass without reply an address of "such importance" as that delivered yesterday by Senator Glass (Dem.) of Virginia.

"I do not think there is any ground for finding fault with the President on communicating his views on matters like this," he continued. "His record shows that Presidents never have hesitated to communicate with Congress to give their views on many subjects, especially those affecting the administration of the Government."

"The President has exercised wide discretion in the subjects upon which they have communicated with the Senate," President Wilson addressed the Senate on constitutional amendments, with the consent of which, under the Constitution, he had no part. I do not find fault with that; he had a perfect right to do so."

Adverting to the Revenue Bureau investigating Committee, Lodge said that the committee "clearly went beyond its authority in approving the employment of counsel to be paid by a member."

"It certainly has not been the practice since I have been here," he said. "I cannot believe it was or is in the interest of the Senate to authorize such a procedure."

When President Coolidge referred to objectionable "intrusion," the Senator said, he had reference to the "apparent employment of an outsider" to dig into official files.

"The language is strong," he agreed, "but it was necessary. The Senate has extended its functions and in newspaper parlance had created a new department in the person of 'committee prosecutor.'"

The Internal Revenue inquiry really was intended to "break down" Secretary Mellon, Lodge said.

"There is much more in this than politics," he declared. "It is aimed at the Secretary of the Treasury because he is the author of a great bill in which the whole country is interested."

It was against the unlawful employment of special counsel by an individual Senator for these purposes, the Senator said, that the President had protested.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, remarked that Senator Watson (Rep.) of Indiana had declared the protest was based upon the belief that "an investigation was intended of prohibition enforcement."

"I know nothing of that," replied Senator Lodge.

The Democratic leader asked if Lodge would approve adoption of the resolution authorizing the committee itself to employ counsel, Lodge returned.

"Adequately restricted," was the reply.

"How?"

"By making appointment of counsel subject to Senate approval," Lodge returned.

"The Senator knows," persisted Robinson, "that the counsel mentioned was suggested by Gov. Frazier, a prominent Republican."

"I don't see where that makes any difference," said Lodge.

"Then the objection is to that individual?" (Francis J. Henery.)

Yes, and perhaps to other possible selections.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Replying to critics of President Coolidge for his letter of protest against the trend of Senate investigations, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, Republican floor leader, declared today in the Senate that the Chief Executive had acted entirely within his rights.

Calling attention to that section of the message stating that the Internal Revenue Bureau investigating Committee was seeking information which could not be helpful in framing legislation, Lodge pointed out that there were laws making individual tax returns, including those of Secretary Mellon, inviolate.

Cites Wilson Precedent.
"There can be no question in anybody's mind," the majority leader said, "that the purpose could not be otherwise than to seek something in relation to the character of the Secretary of the Treasury himself."

Lodge said he regretted to take up the time of the Senate because of the important legislation pending, but could not allow to pass without reply an address of "such importance" as that delivered yesterday by Senator Glass (Dem.) of Virginia.

"I do not think there is any ground for finding fault with the President on communicating his views on matters like this," he continued. "His record shows that Presidents never have hesitated to communicate with Congress to give their views on many subjects, especially those affecting the administration of the Government."

"The President has exercised wide discretion in the subjects upon which they have communicated with the Senate," President Wilson addressed the Senate on constitutional amendments, with the consent of which, under the Constitution, he had no part. I do not find fault with that; he had a perfect right to do so."

Adverting to the Revenue Bureau investigating Committee, Lodge said that the committee "clearly went beyond its authority in approving the employment of counsel to be paid by a member."

"It certainly has not been the practice since I have been here," he said. "I cannot believe it was or is in the interest of the Senate to authorize such a procedure."

When President Coolidge referred to objectionable "intrusion," the Senator said, he had reference to the "apparent employment of an outsider" to dig into official files.

HOME OF MARION KU KLUX KLAN LEADER 'SHOT UP'

Sam Stearns and Wife, Asleep, Escape Injury
From 14 Bullets—Servant Wounded in Leg.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MARION, ILL., April 16.—Fourteen shots were fired at the home of Sam Stearns, Ku Klux Klan leader and chairman of the Williamson County Board of Supervisors, as he lay asleep at 2 a. m.
today in his home near Marion.
Some of the bullets went near Stearns and his wife. One wounded
Ross Lizenby, Stearns' hired man, in the right leg.

The bullets, which were of 45
and 32 caliber, are believed to have been fired by two or more men from a passing automobile.
The "shoot up" of Stearns' premises followed a conflict between the Klan and its opponents in the city election in Herrin yesterday.

Ignore Summons.
City Judge E. N. Bowen of Herrin, John Garavaglia, head of the Board of Health there, and Domnick Loni were arrested on charges of aiding in the casting of illegal votes in the election. It was charged that Judge Bowen and Garavaglia made a false affidavit that Mrs. Nellie Sweet was a qualified voter of Herrin, though she lives at Sunnyside, outside the limits of Herrin.

The arrests were made by John Ford and Harold Crain, Klan police men. Ford being Chief of Police of Her-
rin. S. Glenn Young, leader in Klan liquor raids, was with the police men. Judge Bowen, who is considered as antir-Klan, is slated to preside at the trials of Young and others indicted in connection with the disorders at Herrin Feb. 8.

The arrested men gave bond. The Klan carried the Herrin election,
electing three out of four Aldermen and a Police Magistrate. Herrin was quiet last night, and the next thing reported was the
"shoot up" of the Stearns place.
Several windows in Stearns' house were shattered, and the walls and trees show bullet marks.

Resolutions were adopted urging that no interference by politicians
be permitted in the management of District No. 9 of the Veterans'
Bureau, with headquarters in St.
Louis; that the 1935 Legislature pass enabling legislation to put into effect a constitutional amendment passed in 1920, which would permit Missourians absent from the State in military service to cast absentee ballots in State elections and urging investigation of the

SYRUP PEPSIN
Keeps young girls fit

False Modesty Wrecks Health

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Chief among her troubles is constipation, and her suffering will be serious
when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now. Mrs. Mary Kellar of 132 Benton St., Sistrerville, W. Va., was perplexed about her daughter until her own druggist told her they used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at his house, and she did likewise. Miss Irene Mazierska of 90 Peter St., Buffalo, N. Y., is glad her attention was called to Syrup Pepsin.

A dose can be given in these conditions to any member of the family however young or old as Syrup Pepsin is a simple compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasing aromatics, and perfectly safe.

Public Recognizes Merit
You will quickly see the difference between a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pep-sin and castor oil, or rough cathartics and physics. Syrup Pepsin acts gently and does not gripe. Increased doses are not necessary.
A bottle can be had at any drug store, and a spoonful costs less than a cent. It has been successfully used for thirty years and is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles having been sold in drug stores last year. Keep Syrup Pepsin in your medicine chest.

Safe for Young and Old

Let mothers with growing daughters interest themselves in this matter and see that their judgment is enforced. A rule followed by many is to take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin once a week until the bowels function daily, and at such other times as there is headache, biliousness, sores and fever blisters, lack of energy and appetite, sleeplessness, indigestion.

Why Girls With Yellow Teeth
Are Unpopular

No girl with yellow-stained teeth can be popular—no matter how attractive she may be otherwise. A girl may have a pretty face or a pleasant personality
—yet if her teeth have a yellowish look
she cannot be truly charming to men.
Men admire personal cleanliness in a woman more than the clothes she wears.
Notice the girl with pearly white teeth
—she has a charm and attractiveness that is always lacking in the girl with yellowish teeth.

Yet there are still many girls with dull, dingy teeth who have not found out that teeth stains and discolorations
can be completely removed by using a new scientific treatment recently perfected. This marvelous discovery is known as Headacher Combination.
Containing a mild liquid which quickly
softens and loosens the hardened stains which cling to the teeth so that they can be gently removed by the special kind of paste included in treatment. Once
the stains have vanished Headacher Combination will prevent the formation of future stains and keep the teeth beautifully white—always.

This wonderful treatment, while it completely cleans the teeth, does not effect the enamel as its mild ingredients are especially combined to act only on surface stain. Men always admire sparkling white teeth. So get Headacher Combination (containing both liquid and paste) today. Small cost.

McSkimming.
Proof of the fact that George Sisker
ing pace was given yesterday, in the Chicago White Sox, the opening of the 1924 season. Sisker came in as pitcher's box, while Shocker and two him room.

time the Browns got on base and Shocker Severed, who has no more right to steal second than a one-armed man has to try to wallpaper, came within the narrow margin of beating Sisker's throw. It was probably the absence of the thing that almost caught the Sox off guard. It certainly was not Hank's speed.

Shocker started so late that he threw the Browns' bullpen into a turmoil of warming up the first inning. He walked the first man and the next fellow, Hooper, hit the distant right field wall for a double. Collins then chased the same fence for a long sacrifice fly. But that really was the end of the Chicago threat, although another run was scored in the fourth on a single, and scored by Kamm and a single by Schalk.

The warmup process in the bullpen became more leisurely and the Browns on the bench settled back more at ease.

The fact that the White Sox have only one first-string southpaw in the bullpen has been a factor in the belief that Sisker will do better in batting against right-handers than he gets his batting eye in perfect shape.

Mike Cuyler is the only southpaw
here who has a chance to beat the Browns.

The Browns' defense is good.
The only "bobbie" was committed by Gerber, who threw wide
after fielding Collins' grounder.
Sisker's quick side-step and backhand catch of the wide throw held Collins at first. Had Collins reached second he would have scored, for the next batter singled.

In fielding Collins' grounder, Gerber made a second grab for the ball and then threw an easy lob toward first.

Gerber later explained that the ball was covered with saliva at the point where he grabbed it and he thus checked his throw to prevent a really wild throw into the Brown's dugout. Shocker had pitched a split-ball to Collins. Shocker, it may be noted, often rubs a ball off on his uniform before throwing a runner
out. The infielders do not have time to do this, but must hurry
their throws.

Danforth Probable Pitcher.
Although Elmer Vangilder was scheduled to pitch for the Browns
today it is probable that Danforth will be used.

We Take It That the Overtures Rickard Made to Firpo Consisted Largely of Promissory Notes

1924 Piker Nine Will Be Tested At Ames, Friday

Baseball Season to Open

ST. LOUIS IS STRONG

Washington University's baseball

Saturday afternoons at Francis

for a series of them with con-

MRS. JESSUP WILL BE MEMBER OF AMERICAN OLYMPIC TENNIS TEAM

By the Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, Del., April 15.—
Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, women's national indoor singles and doubles champion, who received an invitation to become a member of the Olympic tennis team from the Olympic Committee, announced last night she would accept.

Mrs. Jessup will sail with tennis teams representing the United States for Europe the end of next month. In addition to being a member of the Olympic team, she will also be a member of the Wightman team, which in women's tennis competes with the Davis Cup competition for the world's championship
in men's tennis.

Now the word comes that Myra
championships of his country last
year the world's champion threw
the javelin a trifle over 200 feet.
Although this is not quite up to
the record made by Myra in the international games, it is still good enough to make any American thrower glad.

Six men from Finland and Sweden did better than 200 feet
in the championship of the Northern countries last year. The men did distances ranging from 204 feet
to the even mark, with a few inches between. The conditions were good,
but they should be a trifle better with the climate of Paris during the summer.

Now, with a little foreground as to the records made by some of the men of other countries, I will attempt to look over our own present crop of javelin throwers.

Americans Far Behind.
To start, it would be well to say that up to this time we can in no way compare with the records made abroad. Our men have shown improvement and are getting near-

but up to date no one has been able to equal a mark such as Myra made last year.

Finns and Swedes Are Best in Javelin Throw, Says Murchison

Americans Are Improving, but Foreign Nations Probably Will Capture Events at Olympic Games This Year, Sprint Champion Writes.

By Loren Murchison,
U. S. Sprint Champion,
(Copyright, 1924.)

THERE is one field event in which America did not even get a look in at the last Olympic Games. The javelin throw saw the wearers of the Red, White and Blue in the hoie without giving any sign of coming up for air. In other words, javelin throwing is a new event for the field men of the United States.

Before considering the men who will wear the colors in the event at Paris this year it might be well to go over some of the wonderful records made by foreign athletes during the last few years.

Over in Finland javelin throwing is a finely developed art. The Finn takes his javelin in hand with skill,
and when throwing the wooded spear makes other competitors look like novices. So highly developed is the art in the Northern countries that they lift almost every place
in international competition.

In the 1920 Olympic Games
America sent a good group of javelin throwers abroad with the hope of breaking through the Finn line and snatching a few points. There is little doubt the Americans did their best, but they were far from the front rank.

Myra Won in Last Games.
A tall, thin competitor from Finland bearing the name of Myra, handled the spear as though he had used it all his life. When he took his trial throws he outshaded every one. There was little doubt who was to win out.

I remember seeing Myra toss
the spear and still marvel at the grace with which he shot the wonderful javelin through the air. He won the Olympic Games with a throw of over 215 feet, which is wonderful.
Myra outclassed the field by about 15 feet, with two countrymen taking the second and third place.

Now the word comes that Myra
still handles the javelin. In the
championships of his country last
year the world's champion threw
the javelin a trifle over 200 feet.
Although this is not quite up to
the record made by Myra in the in-

Firpo Refuses Another Offer For U. S. Bouts

Pampas Bull Reiterates Statement That He Intends to Retire From Ring.

By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, April 16.—
Luis Angel Firpo has refused to listen to the latest overtures of Tex Rickard, made through the promoter's agent, Juan Homs, for fights in the United States this summer with Harry Wills and Jack Dempsy and has reiterated his recently announced intention to retire from the ring.

Homs, bringing an attractive offer from New York on behalf of Rickard, was met by Firpo at Montevideo, where the Argentine battler several days ago bade farewell to Hugh Garlanti, his American business manager, who sailed for the United States.

Returning here yesterday, Firpo
said that he had read a letter from Rickard empowering Homs to sign him to an agreement, but had refused to listen to details of the offer.

Has Not Given Up Hope.
Homs, however, declares that he has not abandoned hope of influencing Firpo to accept and intends to remain here for a few days
to outline the promoter's proposals.
Denying the latest reports that he would change his mind about retiring—this one credited in New York to William McCamey, Garlanti's partner, to the effect that Firpo intended to sail for the United States on April 24—the Argentine heavyweight complained that no one seemed to credit his announcement that he did not want to fight any more.

Firpo added that prominent countrymen who are pressing him
to change his mind are proving troublesome. As proof of the fact that he does not contemplate an early departure for the United States he would attend on April 27 an automobile race at Cordoba
in which he had entered a car.

$500,000 for Two Bouts.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 16.—Tex
Rickard's latest offer to guarantee the South American approximately $500,000 for fights with Wills and Dempsy. Details could not be obtained, however, as Rickard has left the city for a vacation. Rickard's original offer to Firpo of $200,000 for a Wills battle was rejected by the South American several weeks ago.

Smith, Tulsa, Ok., regarded as con-

round boxing match in Cincinnati
next Monday night.

Having the Necessary Things Done to Your Car Now Will Add Greatly to the Pleasures of Using It This Year.

Here are some of the things that should be done to your car to help make your Spring and Summer driving more pleasurable:

Have your motor overhauled.
Your automobile painted.
A new garage for the car.
Have new brake linings installed.
Have nice new fenders.
Have your gears attended to.
Equip your car with a new battery.

Have all of your electrical equipment gone over and replaced where necessary.

Equip your car with new tires.

If your horn isn't the best, get a new one.

Equip your Ford with a new body.

Clean your own car.

Secure good accessories.

If you haven't a sun-visor get one.

Have the car refinished so it will look better.

If your car isn't suitable get a good new car.

If you want to do the work yourself, a trade school can help teach you.

In the Spring a man's fancy, if he owns an automobile, should turn to overhauling and inspection.

This is important for safety sake. A loosed bolt in the spring may cause no particular inconvenience, but if neglected may cause a wreck.

Now is the time to look for loosened bolts. If the car has been stored all winter it is probable that a closer inspection than it had been plowing around in the mud and rain—so all car owners should give their car a thorough inspection before summer. It should have a good cleaning—the most important work should be turned over to experts.

How about the battery? Has cold weather made starting harder in the past few months? Perhaps the battery or starter has been abused. These delicate parts can't hold up forever without a little help. Factory instructions insist that the battery be inspected at regular intervals. Have it put in shape at once and then inspected regularly and kept in tiptop shape.

How about carbon? The removal of carbon is now done scientifically and at reasonable cost. If the car lacks speed, power and pep, get rid of that carbon. Carbon is usually the consequence of careless driving and poor oil.

If the car is in its second or third season, the seat cushions, upholstery or top probably need attention and in this matter it is well to consult a man who specializes. Quality material costs very little more than inferior grades and pays in the long run. It will last longer and look better.

Surface appearance is the chief value in attracting a buyer. Shops here are making attractive prices on refinish jobs, including the enameling of fenders and sheet metal parts. Enameling is cheaper than buying new fenders. Rust and decay start from underneath.

Right now is the time to select camping outfits and if it is an initial attempt it will be well to ask the advice of a reliable dealer of practical camping outfits.

So many tourists make the mistake of buying anything suggested and after their first camp throw half of it away. Figure out everything needed, and see a reliable dealer.

And don't forget to have the radiator in first-class shape. Be sure it is in a clean condition and doesn't leak anywhere. This one item will save hours and hours of time. Let an expert radiator man go over it and be sure.

There are many used cars that have been Spring-house-cleaned and can be bought on easy terms.

THE HOME OF

WHO SHOT MAN HELD FOR HOMICIDE

Raymond Pierce Charged With Fatal Wounding of Albert Henry by Jury.

Raymond Pierce, 15-year-old, was charged with the fatal shooting of Albert Henry, a chauffeur, 28 years old, of 909A Clinton street.

The shooting took place in the Pierce home Sunday afternoon, and Henry died yesterday at the city hospital, after making a statement that he shot himself accidentally.

The youth, however, confessed he fired the shot. Testimony of police who made the investigation and of a neighbor was to the effect that Henry, accompanied by another man, staggered drunk into the yard of the home of the boy's mother, Mrs. Clara Pierce, 1113 North Twelfth street; that they entered the house and demanded Mrs. Pierce cook them food, and when she failed to comply, that Henry began to curse her and choked her.

The neighbor, Edward Miller, 1754 North Twelfth street, testified he heard the quarrel, and that when the boy remonstrated Henry turned on him. He testified he heard the mother plead with Henry not to harm the youth, and a moment later heard the shot.

The boy was represented by an attorney, on whose advice he did not make a statement to the coroner. To the police, however, the boy said he had taken the revolver from a coat belonging to an elder brother. He said Henry struck him and knocked him over a bed, and that he fired one shot as he lay on his back. The shot penetrated Henry's abdomen.

MINT MACHINE CASE DROPPED

Plaintiffs Dismiss Suit for Injunction Against Police.

An injunction suit, filed in Circuit Court April 14 by Myles Dyer and William Harlan, proprietors of the St. Louis Mint Co., asking that the police be enjoined from interfering with the operation of mint vending machines here, was dismissed by the plaintiff today.

The petition was filed by Dyer and Harlan following the arrest of a store proprietor operating one of the machines. The police held the machines to constitute a gambling device and therefore illegal.

Former Supreme Court Judge Conway Elder, representing the plaintiffs, said the dismissal of the suit resulted from a disagreement between Dyer and Harlan and the manufacturers of the machines over territory rights.

Wife Was Ill

The Hoffmans last saw their pet at 2:30 p. m. of that fateful afternoon when they locked it in the kitchen and went out. Pim declared it howled outrageously until 6 o'clock, when, because his wife was ill, he climbed the stairs and let it out.

The Hoffmans came home at 10, according to their testimony, and found the kitchen door open and the dog gone. It must have been carried or kicked downstairs, Hoffman declared, because it was too young to walk. He suspected his neighbor, but was uncertain until Tuesday when Policeman Pim definitely announced he was the culprit. Including the expense of advertising and everything else, the animal was worth about $50, Hoffman said.

Pim cross-examined. He has been on the carpet before and knows the formula. He sought to prove that he merely opened the door and did not touch the dog; he produced a friend who declared the dog could climb downstairs. He contended it was not a collie, whereupon President Brockman interrupted. "We are not trying the dog—we are trying you, Officer Pim."

Mrs. Pim Appears.

Mrs. Pim limped in on her husband's arm. She has rheumatism. "I just couldn't stand the racket the dog made," she explained. "They always seemed to be nice neighbors and I was sure they wouldn't care if we opened the door and let the dog out. I stood it as long as I could and then I told my I was sure they would understand."

"I admit I did wrong, but I think a lot more of my wife than I do of a little wrong," pleaded Pim. "And I thought those people were friends of mine."

"If it wasn't for your wife you would be dismissed," said President Brockman, as he announced the verdict—guilty, with school of instruction for an hour a day for 60 days. "Also you locate this dog for these people or pay them what they think it's worth within 30 days."

Pim is at a loss as to where to begin his search. The dog was sitting disconsolate in the rear yard at 7 p. m. of that day when last seen by a neighbor. Thereafter it vanished without a trace.

SPECIAL PROSECUTOR PLANNED IN KANSAS CITY DRY CHARGES

Three Prohibition Agents Said to Have Given Protection to Bootleggers.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Appointment of a special prosecutor to assist United States District Attorney C. C. Madison of Kansas City, in connection with the prosecution of alleged corruption of Federal dry agents in Western Missouri is under consideration by the Department of Justice, it was learned today.

R. E. Brewer of Kansas City, Republican senatorial nominee in Missouri in 1922, has been seriously considered for the place. A decision is expected from the Department late today.

The Department of Justice has been investigating conditions in Kansas City and it is understood that charges will be brought against at least three Federal prohibition officers, accused of alleged protection of bootleggers. These men, it is charged, failed to prosecute prohibition offenders after they had been arrested. A Federal grand jury will be called within the next 10 days, it is said.

KANSAS CITY, April 16.—The arrival here of David Nolan and several special agents connected with the Internal Revenue Department caused the prediction today that a shakeup of the local prohibition forces is contemplated.

ALFONSO MEETS MRS. TAFT

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, April 16.—During a practice match on the polo field today, King Alfonso learned that Mrs. William Howard Taft was among the spectators. In the pause between two chukkers King Alfonso held quite a lengthy conversation with the wife of the former American President and expressed much pleasure in having had the privilege of meeting her. Afterwards, Queen Victoria sat for some time in intimate conversation with Mrs. Taft. Alexander P. Moore, American Ambassador, presented the King and Queen to Mrs. Taft.

POLICEMAN MUST FIND DOG OR PAY FOR IT

Patrolman Pim Says He Lost Neighbor's Pet Because of Abnormal Howl.

Patrolman Francis H. Pim is looking for a dog. He has 30 days in which to find it or pay for it, and he is handicapped by the fact that he spends an hour each day in the school of instruction where they teach policemen how to behave. The particular dog, according to its owner, William S. Hoffman, who lives over Pim in the apartment at 5991 Ridge avenue, is a valuable collie pup, two months old. Policeman Pim insists it is a no-count poodle with an abnormal howl.

The Police Board heard the story of Hoffman's dog yesterday. The Commissioners agreed it was unusual conduct when Pim went upstairs, unlocked his neighbor's door and let the dog out on the afternoon of March 30. They agreed on everything but the precise whereabouts of the dog. This mystery they left to Pim.

Wife Was Ill

The Hoffmans last saw their pet at 2:30 p. m. of that fateful afternoon when they locked it in the kitchen and went out. Pim declared it howled outrageously until 6 o'clock, when, because his wife was ill, he climbed the stairs and let it out.

Uncle Sam Says:

"How Other People Get Ahead" is the title of an interesting and instructive booklet issued by the Treasury Department of your own Government. Here are some of the sound, sensible suggestions from Uncle Sam:

"Thrift means spending less than you earn, saving systematically. It does not mean that you should stop spending."

"Thrift means securing interest on your savings. Put your money to work."

"The wise individual is he who so regulates his income and outgo that emergencies are provided for automatically. He knows the meaning of 'peace of mind.' His chin is up, his step is brisk; he is the master, not the slave, of circumstances."

"To get ahead you must have a simple and definite plan. Hit-or-miss methods won't do; in the accumulation of money they are positively fatal."

"It is remarkable how quickly

money accumulates when laid by regularly and systematically and increased by compound interest."

"Financial independence is within your reach; but you will never reach it by standing still. Start saving and see it through. The longer you save the easier it becomes."

"Thrift does not look toward the future alone. Thrift means better living NOW. Better foods, better clothes, greater enjoyment of recreations, greater dividends from life itself."

"Why? Because you have put your financial affairs on a sound basis."

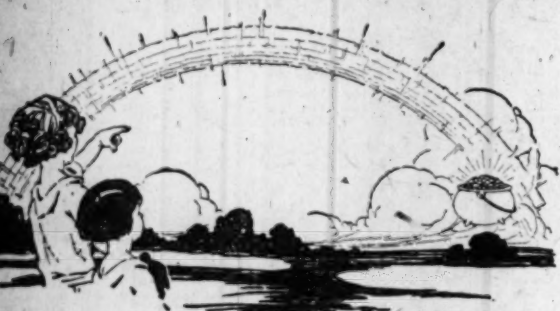

"Thrift is the best means of Thriving."

Start on the road to financial independence. There's no safer, no surer way than through one of St. Louis' reliable Savings Institutions. Those represented in the columns of the Post-Dispatch offer especial facilities to those interested in Thrift and Thriving. They will be pleased to offer you helpful suggestions without in any way obligating.

SHORT-COVERING AGAIN FACTOR IN RISE IN STOCKS

Gains of One to Two Points Frequent in Late Market
—Exchange Market Firm
—Bonds Are Firm.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 16.—The Exchange continued its upward movement today, with the stock market showing a gain of one to two points. The market was characterized by frequent short-covering, which became a factor in the rise in stocks. The exchange market was firm, and bonds were also firm.

Midwest review of the steel industry situation indicates that the moderate reduction in production has continued and that the discounts in prices which began to appear a few weeks ago still prevail. Except for the curtailment in the automobile industry, and this may be a matter of reducing production rather than the actual rate of operations, the iron and steel industry, accordingly, it concludes that many buyers which have entered the market in May if their present scale of output continues.

Exchange Market Firm.
Firmness continued in the foreign exchange market with the encouraging news regarding the acceptance of the Dawes report still the dominating factor. Prices advanced in the morning and again advanced partially in the afternoon after early demands had been satisfied. French francs sold up to 22 1/2 and then came back to 22 1/4, at which the net gain amounted to 2 points. Belgian francs behaved in a similar manner and ending held within a range of 1/2 and was unchanged at 1/2. The other Europeans were irregular and little changed. Weakness in Japanese yen continued, a reaction of 1/2 resulting in a new low of 18 1/2 cents.

BALLOON tires enlist low-pressure air to cushion the passengers from bumps and road shocks. They also cushion vital power units against the same adverse conditions.

The shock-free cradling of power units in a double frame has always been a Reo feature, and a vital reason for Reo chassis longevity. Balloon tires greatly promote it.

Mechanical goodness is further emphasized by the famous Reo high-powered six-cylinder engine. Intake valves in head and exhaust valves at side—short crankshaft, turning in four large bearings and balanced dynamically and statically—ground, glass-smooth cylinders with aluminum alloy pistons—improved carburetion—these are typical of many features that make Reo motordom's most enduring "six."

FEELING OF SAFETY
THE GREAT PROBLEM

MacDonald Declares There Is No Reason for "Misunderstanding Between France and Ourselves."

By the Associated Press
LONDON, April 16.—Prime Minister MacDonald, responding today to a speech in the House of Commons by Major-General J. E. B. Seely, former president of the Air Council, who advocated that the Premier call an international conference for air disarmament, declared he would welcome an invitation by any other Power to take up the whole question of armaments.

The Premier said he had "at the back of my mind and not very far from it" the intention that as soon as we have cleared away some present difficulties in Europe, we must face quite seriously this question of armaments, not only in the air, but all other forms of armaments.

He added that if he felt there was the least chance of receiving a welcome, should he make such approaches, he was prepared to do it.

This statement evoked cheers from the House.

Door Open to Invitation.
"To put it the other way," continued the Prime Minister, "I am sure the whole House is with me when I say that if any invitation is extended to us by any other Power to help bring about such an arrangement, my door is open to that invitation."

"I would like it to be general. It is of the greatest importance that there should be no reason for a misunderstanding—not merely no reason for quarrelling, but no reason for a misunderstanding between France and ourselves. It is most important that that should be so."

"But, as the House knows, there are other Powers taking part in this unfortunate air race that has already begun, and it would be far better if we could manage to get a sort of Washington agreement—not merely a bi-lateral agreement, but a multi-lateral agreement, so that France, Italy and ourselves and everybody else could feel some measure of security."

For International Security.
"The great problem is to create a feeling of security, and security is mainly a psychological problem. What the poor diplomats have got to do is not only to meet public opinion, but to meet the smaller body of sane men who really know what the real problem of security is and to get the representatives of every nation concerned to take wise steps and explain those steps to their own people, so there may be an international feeling of security which will open the door to the arrangement Gen. Seely indicated."

"All this is a matter to be considered in detail and inquiries will have to be made. I say without reserve that I am exceedingly glad the question has been raised and it will be a great pleasure to me if I can, with the hearty co-operation of all sections of this House—as I am sure I can—do something to advance the intention indicated in Gen. Seely's speech."

QUAKES CAUSE MT. MC KINLEY TO SINK TWO FEET A YEAR

Residents Cite Disappearance of Islands to Support Contention That Mountain Is Settling.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
MCKINLEY PARK, Alaska, March 20.—Tradition has it that Mount McKinley, the loftiest peak on the American continent, sinks about two feet a year from its official altitude of 29,300 feet.

Residents point out that there is an average of four earthquakes a year, and contend that the mountain settles about six inches with each tremor.

By way of attempted confirmation, they refer to the Aleutian Islands. According to recent reports from scientific sources, no one can state the location of altitude of many of the small islands in the Aleutian archipelago. One day an island may appear well above water and the next day it may have vanished.

Numerous small islands, including Engstov, are reported to have disappeared without trace. Engstov is recalled as the island which suddenly appeared while the crew of the coast guard cutter Bear looked on, in 1884.
